

Mobile cordless helpers for the home or the road

Landau a. d. Isar, May 10th, 2022 – Laborious inflating by hand is now a thing of the past! With the CE-CC 18 Li cordless car compressor and the CE-AP 18 Li cordless air pump, Einhell is expanding the Power X-Change product range with two mobile units for a wide range of applications in the house, garden and workshop. Both models are operated using the 18 V batteries of the product family, which can also be used in more than 200 other tools of the platform.

For inflating car or bicycle tires and balls

Einhell's CE-CC 18 Li cordless car compressor is ideally suited for inflating car tires, bicycle tires or balls. The integrated storage facility on the tool means the 3-part inflation adapter set is always to hand. The required pressure is easy to select via a digital pressure indicator and can be as high as 11 bar. Upon reaching the target pressure, the battery-operated Power X-Change car compressor switches off automatically. You can choose between bar, psi and kpa at the press of a button. Manual inflation is possible at any time without preselection. The scope of supply includes a 60 centimeter-long compressed air tube with integrated tire valve.

Little leisure and workshop helper

The CE-AP 18 Li cordless air pump from Einhell's Power X-Change product range delivers perfect service for inflating air mattresses and leisure articles or as a blower for cleaning work areas in the workshop. Two valve adapters ensure flexibility of use. With an output of 670 liters a minute and a maximum operating pressure of 0.05 bar, inflation has never been easier. A change of attachment and use of the deflation connection allows air to be let out as well – an enormous help, especially when it comes to larger leisure articles. Meanwhile, the LED light ensures optimum illumination when lighting conditions are poor. An ergonomic handle and locking switch enhance user-friendliness.

The new cordless helpers are members of the Power X-Change product range from Einhell. The great advantage for users is that all batteries are compatible within the Power X-Change platform, which now features over 200 cordless tools. That gives DIYers and amateur gardeners a cable-free solution for all applications around the home and garden.
