Just innovative: the Hager Group Annual Report 2011

Blieskastel (ots) -

It is said that the most reliable way to forecast the future is to invent it, and it is exactly this that Hager Group is intensively working on. In December 2011 the clearly extended understanding of innovation has been presented at the yearly congress of the managers in Paris. It no longer simply involves classical product innovations, but new services, intelligent systems and astute solutions for the customers.

The meaning of this innovative understanding for the company is the theme of the new Annual Report 2011.

It is not just a list of business figures. Under the title "From products to solutions? you will get answers to questions like: How does Hager Group meet the challenges of a complex world? Or: What does "Smart grid? and "Ambient assisted living? mean? Just as last year, it also contains a "Best of? describing the most important products, events and company news of 2011 ? a year with a completely new chapter in Hager Group's history of innovations.
