Syntax Wins HPE 2019 Global Service Provider of the Year and North America Customer Excellence Innovation Award

Global Service Provider of the Year 2019

Montreal (ots) -

These selective awards recognize Syntax globally for its outstanding customer excellence and helping companies optimize their private cloud strategies

Syntax Systems ("Syntax"), a leading global managed cloud provider for mission-critical applications, is proud to announce Hewlett Packard Enterprise selected Syntax as the 2019 Global Service Provider of the Year. Syntax was recognized during an award presentation today at the HPE Global Partner Summit in Las Vegas, NV.

Syntax also takes home a second HPE 2019 coveted award, 2019 North America Award for Customer Excellence and Innovation. Syntax won the award for helping a large electricity and gas company stay at the forefront of IT innovation.

The HPE 2019 Global Awards recognize HPE partners' that embrace the value of partnerships and are committed to working together in order to help companies unleash their growth potential.

"We are thrilled to be recognized by HPE for our talented team's hard work, strong dedication, and unyielding commitment to providing excellent customer service to our clients," says Christian Primeau, global CEO, at Syntax.

Syntax was recognized by an independent judging panel for helping with an innovative approach, delivering business impact and results, its contribution as an HPE service provider, and helping with its strategy and goals.
