Perfect in pairs: A marriage of good watches

A marriage of good watches

In love, engaged, married: People tend to find companions much more often in spring. And that's why the watchmaking company NOMOS Glashütte now also has the perfect pairs of watches for couples who tick in tandem.

GLASHÜTTE, MARCH 2021. Here in Glashütte, there in Seattle, and even in the most far-flung of places: Love is in the air, because spring is the season that belongs to couples. And when a couple not only finds one another physically attractive, but also imagine having good conversations together into old age, then it's not just marriage that's on the cards: It's also time for a pair of committed watches.

That's why the watchmaking company NOMOS Glashütte has created pairs of watches perfect for all the couples out there ticking in tandem. These are mechanical timepieces produced in the 175-year-old tradition of Glashütte craftsmanship—special halves of an even greater whole, watches for life.

Are you, too, in love with good watches—and fascinated with the history of the finest products? We're not asking you to walk us down the aisle, but we'd be equally as happy if you would say "yes" to our proposal of more information, images, stories about the place where the best timepieces have been made for 175 years. We're ready to whisk you away to Glashütte for a honeymoon tour, and if you need anything in the meantime—just give us a call or send us a message.

As fate would have it: You never know when and where your soulmate is waiting for you—around the next corner seeking a kind stranger to tell them the time, or standing alongside you in line at the vaccination center, perhaps. And when the time is right, then it's also the right time for a pair of equally committed watches. Such as Ludwig 33 duo and Tetra 27 duo from NOMOS Glashütte.

When two people tick in tandem—the perfect couple, in other words. These watches are perfect for them: Metro neomatik 39 silvercut and Tangente neomatik 39 silvercut.

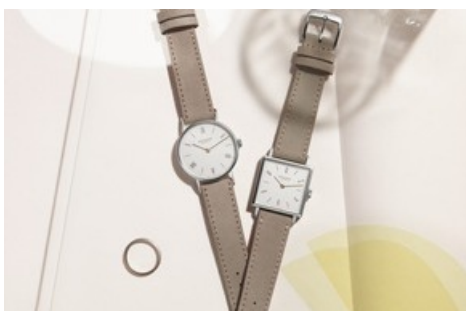

These watches never wilt. Produced in the 175-year-old-tradition of Glashütte craftsmanship, they stay true forever: Metro date power reserve and Ludwig 33 duo from NOMOS Glashütte.

As fate would have it: You never know who's standing alongside you in the vaccination line—maybe it's The One? A promise of many good times together for decades to come: Tangente Update and Tangente Update ruthenium.

Here in Glashütte, there in Seattle, and even in the most far-flung of places: Love is in the air. So pay attention the next time a stranger asks what the time is—it could be your soulmate. The perfect watches for the occasion, for example, are NOMOS models Metro rose gold neomatik 39 and Metro rose gold 33.

When a couple not only finds one another physically attractive, but can also imagine having good conversations together into old age, then it's not just marriage that's on the cards: It's also time for a pair of committed watches, such as Ludwig 33 duo and Tetra 27 duo.

Fell in love, married, and now parted? When the good times are no longer there (an alternative happy ending, you could say), one thing still stays true: Club automatic onyx from NOMOS Glashütte ticks with precision and love, forever.
