NOMOS Tangente neomatik 39 platinum gray: For the world's most elegant dad! The NOMOS caliber—made in the 175-year-old tradition of Glashütte watchmaking—is the driving force behind a watch that ticks automatically, but which simply cannot be surpassed in terms of grandeur. The platinum gray dial underscores the value of this watch—it signifies understatement and personality.

Tetra neomatik black – 175 Years Watchmaking Glashütte: Edgy and very special. The square NOMOS classic, shown here in a brand new style—larger, with a glossy, enamel-like dial and an automatic caliber. This edition is limited to just 175 units worldwide. The watches are regulated according to chronometer values and come with a deployant clasp at no extra cost—a gift from the manufactory.

Still don't know anyone who could possibly compare to your father? A man with vision, who's smart and a man of the world? For the man who's one of a kind, who helped you grow into the person you are today, there's this (by NOMOS standards, rather big) watch with a diameter of 41 millimeters: Tangente neomatik 41 Update. The date ring, placed far out around the edge of the dial, features two red dots that frame the current date, encircling the dial. An aesthetic that can be attributed to the newest automatic NOMOS caliber, DUW 6101.

Metro 38 date urban gray: The watch for a particularly sophisticated father; for men with an affinity for art, design, perhaps even literature. Dark and a little mysterious, delicate typography, ruthenium-plated dial—simply put: smart and beautiful. This hand-wound watch with a date indicator at six o'clock is a watch for life.

For fathers who value respectability: Ludwig neomatik 39, the classic NOMOS Ludwig model with the proprietary DUW 3001 automatic movement. Despite being self-winding, this watch remains elegant and slender. The Roman numerals on the white silver-plated dial are complemented by the discreet Arabic five-minute markers, making this traditional timepiece a watch for contemporary as well as serious wrists.

For the father who is always loving and caring, but who also likes to be the center of attention every once in a while. This striking automatic watch, the winner of numerous design awards, was designed for NOMOS Glashütte by the Zürich industrial designer Hannes Wettstein, hence its name. Beautiful: slender bezel, striking lugs, excitingly complex case. The NOMOS Zürich model, shown here with a white silver-plated dial, has long been a classic. Just like dad.

A watch for sporty and multifaceted men with a thousand to-dos and passions. Club Campus 38 blue purple features a robust, highly polished steel case with a wide bezel, and is water resistant up to 100 meters. Superluminova-coated numerals, hands and hour markers glow blue in the dark and underwater. The dial is contrasting yet clear. Minute and second numerals glow in neon orange and increase readability. The hand-wound watch from Glashütte is driven by the reliable NOMOS Alpha caliber.

Tangente Sport neomatik 42 date: For the good-looking father who likes to wear a suit, but also cuts a fine figure when jogging: the sporty version of the NOMOS classic Tangente. Water resistant to 1000 ft, this watch is a thing of beauty and of the highest comfort. The extra-large date at three o'clock is easy to read, even without glasses. And the highly acclaimed NOMOS caliber DUW 6101 is at work on the inside.
