Ahrenkiel, boasting a 125-year shipping history, and Rohden, representing five generations of ship management, have collaboratively founded blue² shipmanagement in Hamburg. blue², a sustainability-focused Swiss shipping firm, is keen to solidify its presence in Hamburg with Rohden's partnership.

By merging the in-depth ship management expertise of Gerda Rohden with Philipp Ahrenkiel's comprehensive background in both sustainability and ship finance, blue² has strategically positioned itself. This alliance equips the company to enhance and expand its diverse array of ship management solutions and sustainability services globally.

Philipp Ahrenkiel remarks, "Leveraging our in-depth knowledge in sustainability management and maritime finance, alongside Rohden's profound shipping expertise, we find synergy. As the maritime industry evolves, our combined strengths position the blue² group perfectly to offer comprehensive shipping services and holistic maritime sustainability solutions."

Gerda Rohden adds: "The joint venture is a significant step, as we've teamed up with a partner well-versed in finance and sustainability. This allows the blue² group to grow its fleet and offerings to a wider range of ship types. We're excited to build a strong team together."
