Takeover deal in the fund industry: Anevis Solutions buys Frankfurt-based IT service provider gd inside

Würzburg (ots) -

Anevis Solutions GmbH will take over Frankfurt-based gd inside GmbH on January 1, 2024. With this merger, the provider of IT solutions for the financial industry is expanding its portfolio to include additional services. At the same time, Anevis Solutions is further pushing ahead with the company's vision of offering "everything from a single source" to customers. gd inside will become a subsidiary of Anevis Solutions, while the management teams will remain in their current form. Both companies already maintain close business relationships with their teams due to common customers and their regular cooperation in projects.

"Together with the experienced gdi team, we will have the opportunity to further increase our range of services and further strengthen our position as a leading provider of IT solutions within the fund industry in the future. The complementary products of gd inside are a perfect match with the existing Anevis services. This will create a mutual benefit, as both our clients and gd inside's customers will profit from an expanded range of services," says Johannes Hauptmann, CEO of Anevis Solutions.

Dagmar Graw, CEO of gd inside, adds: "In addition to a similar corporate culture and ownership structure, our selection process for potential partners focused on the people involved and their service philosophy as well as the company's technical infrastructure. After numerous thorough discussions with various interested parties, our decision has now been made and we are very much looking forward to the joint challenges from the coming year onward."

gd inside will continue to operate as an independent limited liability company with all its existing employees, structures and responsibilities in the new year, ensuring continuity and quality of service for all customers.
