Volker Bremer, Managing Director of Leipzig Tourismus und Marketing (LTM) GmbH, is delighted with the record number of guests: "After difficult years for tourism, we were fortunate to be able to build on the success of 2019. Thanks to extensive marketing activities at home and abroad, we were able to increase awareness of Leipzig as a travel destination, so that more guests than ever before stayed overnight in our city in 2023. Together with Leipziger Messe GmbH and the partners of the Do-it-at-Leipzig congress initiative, the acquisition of conferences and congresses was intensified. The return to presence formats proved very popular. Leipzig's cultural and leisure facilities, such as the Gewandhausorchester, the Oper Leipzig, the Thomanerchor, the theatres, Leipzig's museums, Spinnerei, RB Leipzig and Zoo Leipzig, also made a significant contribution to the successful development of tourism. In addition, the Leipzig Region and active tourism have become much more important in the last three years."

The flow of international tourists increased again significantly compared to 2022. Their arrivals and overnight stays increased to 244,572 (+17.8 per cent) and 543,052 (+16.8 per cent) respectively in 2023. This represents a 14.2 per cent share of total overnight stays (2022: 13.8 per cent). Most guests came from Poland (49,149 overnight stays), followed by Austria (38,871 overnight stays), Switzerland (38,670 overnight stays), the UK (38,254 overnight stays) and the USA (37,014 overnight stays).

LTM Managing Director Volker Bremer is optimistic about the year 2024: "With the 35th anniversary of the Peaceful Revolution or the UEFA EURO 2024<sup>TM</sup>, for which Leipzig is the host city, there will be highlights with global appeal. But major cultural events such as the Leipzig Book Fair, the Leipzig Bachfest and the WGT Wave Gothic Festival will also attract many visitors to travel to Leipzig. We are also looking forward to numerous important congresses and conferences with thousands of international guests."

According to Volker Bremer, the cooperation with Tourismus Marketing Gesellschaft Sachsen (TMGS) and the German National Tourist Board (GNTB) will also be expanded. In 2024, Leipzig will be a premium partner of the GNTB in the global city and culture campaign "Art and Culture in Germany", which aims to attract more international guests. "With four top matches during UEFA EURO 2024<sup>TM</sup> and many other major events, we are confident that we will break the four million overnight stays mark in Leipzig in 2024."
