FIT Voltaira Group Completes Acquisition of Auto-Kabel Group

Reutlingen, Germany (ots) -

- Auto-Kabel Group Officially Joins FIT Voltaira Group as of November 29, 2024
- Acquisition Expands Voltaira's Product Portfolio in Intelligent Power Distribution
- Auto-Kabel to Be Rebranded as Voltaira Autokabel

FIT Voltaira Group (Voltaira), a leading system supplier of sensor, connectivity, and electrification solutions, specializing in wire harness technologies, today announced the completion of its acquisition of Auto-Kabel Group as of November 29, 2024. Auto-Kabel, based in Hausen im Wiesental, Germany (Baden-Württemberg), is a pioneer in e-mobility and a technology leader in automotive power distribution and management.

The acquisition, previously announced on July 11, 2024, significantly strengthens Voltaira's product portfolio in intelligent energy distribution systems, including innovative battery harnesses, busbars, and high-voltage vehicle electrical systems. The combined entity, Voltaira, will now boast a global presence, with more than 50 locations across Europe, Asia, North America and Africa, and over 11,500 people worldwide.

"We are delighted to welcome the Auto-Kabel Group to the Voltaira family," said Chris Lu, Global COO of FIT Group and Managing Director of FIT Voltaira. "This strategic acquisition solidifies our commitment to electrified vehicle technology and reinforces our dedication to pioneering solutions. Our customer knowledge and expertise with both OEMs and mobility suppliers will empower us to uniquely address the evolving needs of both audiences, positioning us at the forefront of the industry."

Going forward, the Auto-Kabel brand will operate under the name Voltaira Autokabel, reflecting its integration into the FIT Voltaira Group while respecting its historical significance in the mobility market. This rebranding will leverage the strength of the Voltaira brand while honoring Auto-Kabel's legacy and industry expertise.

"We are incredibly excited to join Voltaira," said Jens Schumacher, CSO of Auto-Kabel Group. "This partnership is built on a shared commitment to quality, innovation, and deep industry expertise. We see a promising future ahead, and the synergies between our businesses will enhance our product offerings and drive sustainable growth."

The acquisition was made through a wholly owned German SPV of Foxconn Interconnect Technology GmbH, the holding company of FIT Voltaira Group GmbH. Voltaira, owned by Foxconn Interconnect Technology Limited ("FIT"), benefits from a solid financial foundation that supports growth in the rapidly evolving automotive market.
