Scrive and Qred join forces to empower SMEs and entrepreneurs for faster growth

Stockholm (ots) -

Scrive, a leading provider of e-signing and electronic identity (eID) solutions, has announced a strategic partnership with Qred, the innovative Swedish bank focused on providing fast and flexible financing to small businesses. This collaboration is set to revolutionise how Qred operates internally while delivering even faster, more secure services to its growing base of entrepreneurial customers.

As Qred continues its rapid expansion across Europe, the need for a more agile, digital-first approach to operations has become essential. Through this partnership with Scrive, Qred is taking a significant step towards full-scale digital transformation. The integration of Scrive's digital platform will enhance Qred's internal workflows, helping the bank to scale seamlessly while ensuring the same high level of efficiency and compliance across all markets.

Empowering entrepreneurs with faster, more efficient financing solutions

For Qred, helping small businesses grow goes beyond just providing financing—it's about making the entire process as fast, seamless, and customer-friendly as possible. With Scrive's e-signature technology, Qred can now approve loans, sign partner agreements, and finalise key internal decisions at record speed, while also giving entrepreneurs confidence that all documentation is handled securely and in full compliance with legal standards. This means entrepreneurs can receive the funding they need more quickly, helping them to focus on growing their businesses.

Innovative financial services

The collaboration between Scrive and Qred represents a larger trend of financial institutions embracing digital solutions to enhance both internal and customer-facing processes. By automating workflows and reducing the need for paper-based transactions, Qred is tapping into how technology can transform financial services.

"This partnership with Scrive ensures we can continue growing without sacrificing operational efficiency or security. Scrive's solutions are an essential part of our strategy to deliver on our promise of fast, flexible, and reliable financing for entrepreneurs around the world," said Emil Sunvisson, CEO and co-founder at Qred.

"We are proud to support Qred in their mission to empower small businesses with innovative, flexible financing. Together, we're not only improving internal operations but also making a lasting impact on the broader financial ecosystem by showing what's possible with the right digital tools," said Arash Sundin Alidoost, CRO at Scrive.

About Qred Bank

Founded in 2015 by entrepreneurs, for entrepreneurs, Swedish-based and founded Qred makes business financing smoother, easier and more accessible for all businesses - large and small. With operations in Sweden, Finland, Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands, Belgium, Germany and Brazil, Qred has helped over 50,000 businesses in seven different markets, giving entrepreneurs the chance to focus on building what they do best.

Qred offers business loans from EUR1000 to EUR500 000 with flexible loan terms and gives its customers the option to pay back the loan in full at any time. This means you only pay for the period you actually need the loan.
